WE NOMINATE

John Cobb Cooper, lawyer, author, educator and this country's leading authority on "space law," who has been largely responsible for the late-summer publication of "Sources of Our Liberties," a monumental work presenting in one usable volume the major legal sources of the Western World's strength—individual liberties. At the time Nikita Khrushchev's visit to these United States is being avidly covered by some 2,000 members of the American press, the American Bar Foundation, research affiliate of the American Bar Association, has brought forth under the supervision of this eminent Princetonian (72 this week) a 456-page book which quietly ties together a political process stretching back to 1215 A. D.

The newly issued book, hardly an aspirant for best-seller listings but invaluable for libraries on all levels, originated with the Bar Association's Cooper-chaired Committee on American Citizenship. It became the responsibility of the seven-year old American Bar Foundation, of which Cooper was founding administrator. The result is something that should become "a must" for students of American Civilization, for, as Cooper points out, "few, if any stage, television or radio productions of our time can rival the tense human drama behind Magna Carta," or the debates preceding the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

"Sources of Our Liberties" is in keeping with the Cooper tradition of trail-blazing. Some 12 years ago Cooper, who returns this weekend from a series of meetings in Western Europe, brought forth "The Right to Fly," a book devoted to the body of law under which every sovereign nation has complete control of the airspace over its earthly holdings. Behind the volume, published while Cooper was a member of the Institute for Advanced Study, lay the years this Florida-born spokesman for the air-and-space age had played a role in the expansion of Pan-American Airways over the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

Cooper, Professor of Law in McGill University, Canada, and first director of the McGill Institute of Air Law, became fascinated with "third-dimensional law" four decades ago as World War I commander of the Navy's Transatlantic Control Radio Station in Washington. Prior to his service as adviser to President Truman's Air Policy Board, and as consultant to United States delegations participating in international air conferences, he had carefully watched every governmental and commercial development that subsequently contributed to the massive misunderstanding of all that is involved in the world's upward and "outward" expansion.

The son and grandson of Florida attorneys, and a resident of the Princeton Community for the past quarter-century, Cooper edited "The Lit" and wrote lyrics for the Triangle Club while earning high honors in the company of his Princeton 1909 class-mates, including Judge Harold Medina, diplomat Norman Armour and missionary Frank Laubach. Without benefit of formal law-school training, he prepared himself for his bar examinations and 20 years later was president of the Florida State Bar Association.

For his contributions to one of the most meaningful volumes of 1959; for understanding that "too little is known of the solid foundation on which the structure of our individual liberties has long stood;" for looking to the future—even into the space age—with a rare appreciation of the past; he is Town Topics' nominee for

This Is PRINCETON

A DIFFERENT TUNE
Whistled by Dr. Gross, Princetonians, who have long been the subject of articles in the national press detailing their numerous unusual qualifications as members of a somewhat unique community, learned last weekend that the descriptive adjectives could take a completely different twist. Largely unknown to them, but duly recorded in Sunday's newspapers, Rutgers President Mason W. Gross accused them of living with the rest of New Jersey — "in a cultural desert."

Intriguingly, Dr. Gross spoke right here in Princeton, addressing the meeting of the New Jersey Constitutional Convention at the Princeton Inn. In a town often given to reunions, this was the annual gathering of those who had helped draft the State Constitution a dozen years ago.

Charging that there was a "shockingly low public commitment to culture and the lasting values of civilization in this State, Dr. Gross declared: "I may be ignoring some local activity, but in general it seems true to say that there is no legitimate theatre, and even very little popular theatre except for the summer reruns; there is absolutely no opera and no ballet; most of the efforts at symphonic music fall far short of professional standards, and there is no effort at publicly-supported chamber music."

While the essence of Dr. Gross' message was a plea for passage in November of the $66 million college bond issue, his remarks on lack of interest in cultural activities were somewhat uninformed insofar as they relegate Princeton to oblivion in his "cultural desert." The community has its own Ballet Society; year-round legitimate theatre of high standards provided alternately by the Community and University Players; top-flight exhibitions of painting and sculpture drawn from Princeton area artists; and a Princeton Symphony Orchestra whose conductor is in sufficient demand that other cities are bidding for his services in an attempt to duplicate what has been achieved here.

As McCarter Theatre launches a season of unprecedented activity (see "News of the Theatre," page 5), word comes of plans for a program of music never before offered in this music-loving community. A "United Festival of Song" will be presented in McCarter on the evenings of October 14 and 15, featuring ten singing groups of unusual appeal.

For the first time on one stage, Princetonians may hear the internationally-known Westminster College Choir, the fine Princeton Seminary Choir, the widely-traveled Columbus BoyChoir; the Princeton High School Choir, the Princeton University Glee Club, as well as five groups of an informal nature: the Palmer Squares, the Princeton Male Chorus, the Opposite Sextette, the Nassoons and the Tigerlones. The unique festival has been conceived by Herbert W. Hobbs, public relations chairman of the 1959 United Fund, as a public service to the community. The widely-varied selections will include folk songs, spirituals, close harmony, sacred music and traditional songs. The Festival of Song should rank as a delightful example of home-grown culture, and we hope the United Fund will see fit to send Dr. Gross a couple of tickets.

NO LIBRARY REFERENDUM
Issue Put Off Until 1960. When Gov. Meyner signed the library bill on September 8, he set into motion the machinery which will enable Borough and Township to have a joint public library — if they want one. But the decision rests with the voters, which means a public referendum, and there will be no library referendum on the ballot this year for Princeton.

The referendum deadline is September 21, two and one-half weeks after Gov. Meyner's action. Stanley C. Smoyer, Township committeeman who represents his municipality in library matters, feels that the necessary ordi-nancess could have been drafted in time by both Borough and Township. However, Raymond F. Male, Borough Mayor, acting on the advice of Councilmen Richard Leiser and Borough Attorney John McCarthy, has said that two-and-one-half weeks is not long enough.

"We don't want a 'midnight ride' on this library thing," Mayor Male said. "We need a more participation from interested people. We need to have professional librarians give us their advice and we want plenty of time for public hearings."

Mr. Male had formerly expressed his hope that the referendum would be on the '59 ballot, but he said he changed his mind when it became apparent that there would be little time to make the necessary legal preparations.

Mr. Male also said that because there will be so many public questions on this fall's ballot, another one would be unfortunate. E. Kenneth Fairman, Mayor of Princeton Township, has expressed his opinion that the people of Princeton — are intelligent enough to vote on several referenda at once. Mr. Male said, however, that many people are already engaged in campaigning for such issues as the college bond referendum and he did not think it wise to siphon off their energies into something else.

Library authorities believe that Princeton Borough and Township will be the first municipalities to take advantage of the joint library bill and that their ordinance will probably set a statewide pattern.

ROUND-UP

Princeton this week learned of three more building programs which will alter its face for the future, three which could hardly be more diversified in purpose. . . on page 27, announcement is made of a million dollar addition to Our Lady of the Immaculate . . . in the broad field of communication, ground has been broken for a major building just west of Murray Place for the Institute for Defense Analyses (see page 4) . . . and in Princeton Junction, Orga Industries will build on an eight-acre tract a Pipe Organ Engineering and Research Center, an expansion of the Chester Raymond Pipe organ manufacturing enterprise now located at 44 Spring Street. The week was virtually accident-free, after the Labor Day weekend activity, but J. O. Kessler, 151 Sycamore Road, broke his wrist on Sunday when he swerved on his motorcycle to avoid hitting a dog near the intersection of Nassau and Cedar Lane. . . Mr. Kessler was thrown from the cycle, but was able to remount and go to Township Hospital.

Gasoline being used for cleaning purposes ignited a fire Tuesday afternoon at 222-C Harrison Street, the University housing project. . . Phillip Griffin, occupant of the unit was treated for burns at Princeton Hospital and some damage was done to the interior of the building. . . Township Police extinguished the blaze.

DECISION POSTPONED

On Urban Renewal Sites. Although this Friday has been awaited as the date for the Mayor and Council to reach a final decision on sites for the oft-debated public housing scheduled as part of the Urban Renewal program, word came this week that action has again been deferred. The delay is defined as of much potential value to the Princeton community.

Council President Dan D. Coyle, sponsor of last month's resolution to the effect that a final decision would be reached this Friday, had this to say:

"With the unanimous consent of the members of Council, and with the approval of Mayor Raymond F. Mile, it has been resolved that—in view of two pending possibilities, both of which in the Council's opinion mean a great deal to the Princeton Community's future well-being—final decision on public housing sites, in connection with Urban Renewal, will not be reached Friday evening. Further discussion of possible housing sites will be welcome, with the understanding that final decision by Council will be withheld until it has opportunity to explore carefully both of the above-mentioned possibilities."

Possible locations for single-family housing are the Borough-owned property near Lower Alexander Street in the Township; Borough-owned property on the west side of Elm Road near the Township line; and a piece of property on John Street next to the fenced-off entrance to Stanworth.

Units for the aged may be clustered in the vicinity of Princeton Hospital, and possibly integrated with the operations of "Merwick," the hospital's home for the aged.

Council also has on its agenda for Friday a possible course of action on the library situation with reference to a referendum on joint operation with the Township of Princeton's library.

Adoption of police promotion policy and announcement of the date for promotion examinations and progress reports on various problems requiring ordinances—the extension of Prospect, Hamilton Avenue sidewalks and traffic and parking amendments—will also be considered.

SEEK ZONING FOR OFFICES

In Princeton Township. An ordinance was introduced by Township Committee Monday night to amend the zoning laws so that "general office use" will be permitted on land now restricted to research.

Dilmen M. K. Smith, representing Research Park, told the Committee that the Park had lost a $2,000,000 enterprise consisting of chemical laboratory and office building because Park officials didn't feel they could apply for an amendment to the zoning ordinance until the Planning Board had set forth a master plan for the Township which laid down a policy on land use.

By "general office use," Mr. Smith said he meant an establishment which produced neither noise nor smells nor nuisance, and whose employees did not unduly tax traffic on residential streets. He said he did not include light industry, which the Planning Board had recommended. He also said that Research Park did not envision a "company town" type of residential development.

Adult School "Open House"

Questions about curriculum, books, materials and registration for the Princeton Adult School will be answered at an "Open House" this Thursday from 8 to 10 p.m. at the Princeton High School. Members of the Adult School faculty and committee will accept registrations at that time.

Prospective students may also register from 4 to 5 this Thursday at the High School. Classes begin next Thursday.

Plans for a new building will be held on October 1. It was passed on a first reading Monday night and must now be resubmitted to the Planning Board for approval before the hearing.

The protracted question of the extension of Sycamore Road came to an end on Saturday when Township Committee, in an unusual 4:30 p.m. session, passed the ordinance. There was one amendment in the final draft, stating that if the Board of Assessors decided that Sycamore Road residents were not receiving the full benefit of the improved street, the Board would ask the Township to bear part of the cost.

The ordinance has been criticized because it provides for 100 percent assessment of Sycamore Road property owners. William Miller, representing E. K. Lochner, 100 Sycamore, presented this point of view. So did Alfred Test, University Director of Real Estate. The University has seven lots facing the street.

At Monday night's meeting, presided over by Stanley C. Smoyer in the absence of Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman, Township Committee also:

Passed the ordinance reducing the speed on Province Line between Port Mercer and Rosedale from 50 to 40 m.p.h. . . accepted Stanhope Road, Blair Lane, Updike Way and Stony Brook Road into the Township system. . . decided on sidewalks for the north side of Harrison (William Marvel dissenting because he believes the Township should bear part of the assessment and the ordinance calls for property owners to bear it all).

GIORDI BROKEN FOR "IDA"

New Research Center. Ground was broken this week by President Robert F. Goheen for a $560,000 building for the Institute for Defense Analyses. The structure will be erected on land between Murray Place and University Field, north of Prospect Street.

The Institute, known as "IDA," is a non-profit corporation sponsored by the California Institute of Technology, Case Institute of Technology, Stanford, Tulane and M.I.T. The organization has research contracts with the Department of Defense, including long-range projects with the department's Advanced Research Projects Agency and with the Weapons Systems Evaluation Group.

Because of security problems, the building, designed by Princeton architect Charles K. Agle, will provide separate areas for various functions. The Institute will undertake both classified and non-classified research. There will be two wings with the entrance at their junction. The north wing will be under 24-hour maximum security protection, and the south wing will be open to the public at certain times of the day and under security restrictions at other times.

In the south wing will be a C.D.C.—1004 Computer to which the University will have access for its own research, a library with space for 10,000 reference books, lounge and lecture rooms.

Research in the field of communication will be the prime responsibility of IDA's Princeton center. Until the new building is completed, sometime next July, the research will be carried out at 261 S. Nassau Street. Tower Construction Company of Princeton is the contractor.

ROTARY TO BE HOST

To Kiwanis and Lions. Richard W. Colman, Princeton University's football coach, will be the speaker at Tuesday's Rotary Club meeting at the Nassau Inn. The club has invited Kiwanis and Lions members to be its guests at the 12:30 luncheon meeting.

In discussing the potential of this year's football team, Mr. Colman has as the title of his talk, "It's What's Up Front That Counts, or What's My Line."

HOW TO GUARANTEE GETTING YOUR SWIMMING POOL IN 1960

Holiday says:

"INSTALL IT NOW!"

It's a fact! 1,000,000 families are planning swimming pools in 1960! ONLY 1 OUT OF 5 WILL GET A POOL!

Here are the facts favoring immediate pool installation - proven by HOLIDAY POOLS, INC., and a NATIONAL SURVEY OF THE ENTIRE SWIMMING POOL INDUSTRY:

YOU'LL SAVE MONEY!

Material and labor costs will advance sharply by January 1, 1960. 'Nuff said!

More Time to Install Now

We can install three times as many pools between September and December than during the Spring pool rush!

THE WEATHER

Fall weather assures harder ground, better installation conditions, more fair weather working days. IT PERMITS US TO BUILD YOUR POOL QUICKER!

SAVE WEAR AND TEAR ON YOUR PROPERTY

Winter snow and spring rains tear lawns, cause unsightly ruts, making for costly grading, re-sodding and lawn improvement bills.

TOO LITTLE—TOO LATE!

Wait until Spring and you'll find a sure shortage of pool builders. NOW the swimming pool industry is still geared to provide only 20% (1 out of 5) of the swimming pools demanded for 1960.

HOLIDAY has a special plan making it possible to get your pool in time to enjoy a full swimming season in 1960!

Call for a representative today!

No obligation, of course.

XIMENEZ-VARGAS COMING

Through C-K Productions, inaugurating Princeton's theatrical season on September 26 will be "Ballet Espanol: Ximenez-Vargas," to be presented through C-K Production, the latest addition to the growing group of local impresarios. "C" is for John Craig Jr., Princeton Class of 1962 and promising football prospect; Hal A. Kroeger, also a sophomore, is handling details at the moment while Mr. Craig is in Blairstown. Ballet Espanol is based on the traditional dances of Spain and Latin America which have been adapted into "character ballets" and given a dramatic continuity and staging. The troupe has toured Europe, the Orient and Latin America. Sadlers Wells Theatre in London was sold out for the three-weeks engagement the second day after tickets were placed on sale.

Featured as Film, American audiences may have seen the group in the motion picture, "Flamenco," which has been playing in this country for over a year. Ballet Espanol also has a recording recently released by RCA Victor.

In North America they have performed at the Jacobs Pillow Dance Theatre in Lee, Mass., and at the Vancouver International Festival in British Columbia, where a command performance was presented for Queen Elizabeth II.

Tickets for the McCarter appearance are available at the University Store or by mail to C-K Productions, Box 591. They are priced at $3.90, $3.30, $2.65 and $1.95.

MONTJOYA TO PLAY

October 9 at McCarter. The second offering of Dana Attractions this fall will be a recital by flamenco guitarist, Carlos Montoya, in a return engagement before Princeton audiences. This year's performance will be given Friday, October 9 in McCarter Theatre. Tickets are available at the University Store or by phone through Dana, WA 4-1376.

Senor Montoya received standing ovations at his recital last year in Alexander Hall where he gave a stirring performance. He was the first in his profession to give a full program of flamenco guitar music in 1945. A Spanish gypsy, he first came to this country in 1933, and toured this country extensively as well as abroad.

BALLET AT MCCARTER
Dancers In First Appearance
Here, The Robert Joffrey Theatre
Ballet will appear at McCarter
Theatre on Tuesday, October 6, under the sponsorship of the Princeton Ballet Society. A company of 16 dancers, accompanied by two pianos, are included in the Joffrey troupe.

Beatrice Tomkins leads the list of Joffrey dancers, all of whom are billed as being of solid calibre. Miss Tomkins has been soloist with the New York City Ballet an its predecessors, and later with the San Francisco Ballet, and has been the ballerina of the San Francisco Opera. She has toured with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and has danced the leads in the New York Opera Company's productions of "Macbeth"
and "La Vie Parisienne."

Other leading dancers with the company include Gerald Arzoo,
the principal male dancer of the group, who has appeared with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and in many New York theatre and TV performances; Françoise Martinet, Nils Jorgensen, Brunilda
Balle, Marie Paquet, Rochelle Zide, Paul Sutherland, Richard
Beatty and John Wilson.

Tickets for the event can be obtained from the Princeton University Store, from Mrs. William Pontron, The Great Road, or at McCarter Theatre on the day of the performance. All seats are reserved and priced from 12 to $1.

ISRAELI RETURN

Israeli Dancers at McCarter.
Inbal, the National Dance Theatre of Israel, will open its North American tour at McCarter Theatre with two appearances on October 4 and 5. The company appeared here on its first American tour two years ago.

Drawing its repertory of folk songs and dances from Yemenite, Biblical and Israeli culture, the troupe is made up of the descendants of Jews who were exiled to Yemen 2000 years ago. The company was formed in 1919, the year that the Yemenite Jews were repatriated.

Their dances include songs of all moods, joy and sorrow, harvest and weddings, ceremonial and simple occasions, and recall many of the familiar fables of the Old Testament, including King Solomon, the Queen of Sheba, David, Joseph, Deborah and others. The company supplies its own musical accompaniment, playing primitive flutes, drums, ankle bells and cymbals. In the singing and chanting, musicians have used Spanish, Flamenco, Moorish laments,
and Gregorian chants.

sequential little farce featuring Debbie Reynolds, Glenn Ford,
Eva Gabor and Fred Clark. Beautifully photographed in Spain with the full CinemaScope and color treatment, the film owes much of its fragile appeal to George Marshall's swift direction and the performances of Ford and Clark.

Ford, an Air Force sergeant,
falls in love with Miss Reynolds,
a gold-digging showgirl who is selling charity raffle tickets on a $40,000 sports car in Spain. He naturally wants the car with his one chance and they are instantly married. There are varied performances used by the Air Force which features on its roster of driving $40,000 sports cars in foreign lands, the State Department, a haultiger and Miss Gabor, but the chief conflict arises when Miss Reynolds bars Ford from her company for a month to prove it's not just A Physical Attraction.

When Minsky used this situation, he had the good sense to turn off the lights after a couple of minutes. This film, however, runs on for well over an hour and a half and you may get the feeling toward the end that a little judicious cutting would have improved things. Nonetheless, everyone is very pleasant and the experimental sports car is worth the price of admission by itself.

A Private's Affair (September 20-22) is a kind of Prussianized
"Bernadette" and it falls into Type B (subdivision: cleanest, smiling) of films of, by and for teenagers, as such films are classified by this department. The Army, as "A Private's Affair"
would have it, is a warm, friendly organization populated by fresh-faced, happy youngsters who spend most of their time romancing, telling jokes and generally having the time of their lives.

The cast reads like a Who's Who of this year's crop of star-lets and whatever their male counterparts are called: Sal
Mino, Christine Carere, Barry
Coe, Barbara Eden, Gary Crosby
and Terry Moore. Supporting roles (that is, parts played by adults) are taken by Jim Backus, Jesse Royce Landis and Robert Burton. The plot turns chiefly around the love lives of Mino,
Coe and Crosby, who are a Cross-Section of Typical Young Servicemen: Mino is poor, Coe is rich
but Crosby is from the West.
Along the way there are some side bits involving an Army psy-

IT'S NEW To Us

CHOWDER TO GO

From Soup to Nuts. The bustling little eating place called Soup to Nuts is now eating three squares a day instead of just lunch, as heretofore. You can stop at 14 Spring Street from 8 to 10 a.m. for breakfast, you can go back for lunch from noon to 2:30 and you can have a leisurely supper (except on Saturday) from 6:30 p.m.

The Soup to Nuts kitchen is now under Fred Wayman who used to be in the Callup Building. Mr. Wayman has brought to Spring Street his kitchen equipment and his experience in the food business. With Mr. Waldron, the owner, he has worked out menus that retain the unusual items for which the shop is known, plus certain staples not available before.

For example, the dinner menu offers prime ribs of beef au jus, flounder with sauce, Braisee, broiled chicken, a one-pound sirloin with fresh, broiled mushrooms, Cole slaw and baked potatoes are on the side. To add, there is New England clam chowder or the usual tomato soup, French bread and a tossed salad are tossed in. (All beef, incidentally, is "choice.")

For lunch, Soup to Nuts has those splendid hot and cold soups: French onion, hot or cold borat, Vichyssoise and a down-to-earth green pea. Everything on the menu can go out, if you wish. No curfew here. Try the wine cheddar sandwich, the cream cheese and anchovy sandwich. And if you plan to eat your order right there, don't miss the Spanish omelet.

On the Road. It's worth the drive, well worth it. The new fabric shop called Gretchen's is on Route 130, one mile south of the Highlands-Princeton Road intersection, but do not blink at the distance. The fabrics in this shop are superb, the shop itself is cool, serene and delightful (probably quite a cozy place, when winter comes).

A woman who sews can spend an entire afternoon examining fabrics and planning a winter wardrobe. There are three comfortable chairs covered in bright print, with a coffee table in front of them, and fashion magazines to pore over.

The shop is in its own building, a white, one-story structure with black cable, red and white striped

Coffee Break

Assuming a certain hunger faintness around 10 a.m., you can now send out to Soup to Nuts for "coffee and Danish."

The shop has always provided for coffee breaks, but up to now you had to go get your own. Now you just call WA 1-9572 and ask for five black, three with sugar and no cream; one with half a teaspoon of sugar and no more, and four with sugar and cream.

These orders take a little time to fill, but not much, considering the complexity of the usual office coffee specifications. Allow about 20 minutes, if you're a clock watcher, and at the end of that time, your coffee and Danish pastry will be at your desk. No extra charge.

Soup to Nuts does hope that you will wait and send out one pooled order instead of eight or ten one-cuppers. A reasonable request.

owning, chrysanthemums in front of the display windows, and fine gravel to park your car in.

Around the walls inside, are ranged the bolts of silk, wool, brocade, lace and cotton. Vogue patterns are sold here, and only Vogue. There are notions, too.

Some of the most memorable fabrics are the imported wools. A French soufle wool in navy, melon, beige or lime, has fine loops of silk thread picked out from the wool background. It would make a splendid formal suit.

Another French wool, fine as crepe, is brilliant red with an overprinting of roses, just a suggestion of them, which makes the fabric look almost like an Impressionist painting. Another French chiatrics (Alan Hewitt) and an arranged marriage between Cor and a female Assistant Secretary of the Army (Miss Landis). Jimmy McHugh, Jay Livingston and Ray Evans contributed three songs in the style of the day, "Same Old Army," "Be-24-26" and "Warm and Willing." The film is in CinemaScope and color.

The Blue Angel (September 23-26) is a juiced-up, over-the-top remake of the picture that paired Marlene Dietrich in fame in 1930. Newcomer May Britt, who personifies her first name like the singular possessive, is cast in the Dietrich role and, while there may be some feeling that she has bitten off a good deal more than she is able to chew, Miss Britt is a performer of great physical charm and personal magnetism. Her co-star is Curt Jurgens, who, as always, is thoroughly competent.

Jurgens, a middle-aged boche for schoolteacher in a German town, is appalled when he learns his charges are spending time at the local dancehall. With naught but his professional obligations in mind, he takes a jaunt to the ill-famed establishment and is promptly smitten with the sparklingly clad, immortal Miss Britt. He eventually marries her, loses his position and, ultimately, his self-respect. The painful degradation of his character is masterfully limned by Jurgens.

The picture moves with unfortunate slowness through much of its 107 minutes and, in spite of the good performances, it veers dangerously close to melodrama at several points. It's biggest selling point is Miss Britt, who comes closer to projecting a truly individual appeal than most "discoveries" of the past few years. The film is in CinemaScope and color.

THE GARDEN
Sayonara (September 17-19), a 1957 release, handles the important theme of race relations with delicacy and, often, genuine beauty. The stars are Marlon Brando, Patricia Owens, Red Buttons (who won an Academy Award for this role), James Garner, Ricardo Montalvan and Miyoshi Umeki. Brando, a top Air Force pilot, tries to dissuade Buttons from a romance with a girl in Japan, where they are stationed. Ignoring Brando, Buttons marries the Japanese girl Miyoshi Umeki and settles down with her to the first real happiness he has ever known in his life. Brando soon finds himself entranced by the lovely Miss Umeki, and they begin meeting at Buttons' home. Their happiness is broken when Miss Owens, Brando's fiancée and the daughter of his commanding officer, arrives from the States. Since servicemen are not allowed to wed Japanese girls, Buttons must conceal his marriage. Meanwhile, Miss Owens' bigoted father does all he can to break up Brando's attachment. The picture reaches its emotional climax when it becomes apparent that Buttons and Miss Umeki are not going to be allowed to continue their idyll.

Joshua Logan directed the film with artistry and the title tune was contributed by Irving Berlin. One unfortunate blemish on this otherwise excellent production is Brando's incredibly artificial, garbled and often difficult to understand Southern accent. The picture is in Technirama and color and is beautifully photographed. Recommended.

DRIVE LAUNCHED

Red Cross Seeks Volunteers. At a kick-off luncheon for 400 workers to be held Monday at Princeton Seminary, 50 Red Cross chapters in New York City, New Jersey and Delaware, will launch a drive to recruit 10,000 new volunteers. At present, about 26,000 volunteers are serving communities in 60 areas through Red Cross chapters.

All types of volunteers are sought, but motor service drivers are most in demand. During the one-week campaign, individual chapters will use sound wagons, street booths and a wide-spread publicity campaign to urge both men and women to join the organization.

Men and women who are interested in serving as Red Cross volunteers may obtain additional information from the Princeton chapter of the Red Cross, WA 4-2404.

BEHIND DADDY ALL THE WAY: Young Ricky Coffee has turned his back on everything in order to campaign for his father, Richard Coffee, who is running for Mercer County Freeholder on the Democratic ticket. —Continued from Page 8—house in February, preserves the power of Terence Rattigan's well-received Broadway play in recounting the story of a group of youngsters to middle-aged neurotics who have gathered at a dingy seaside hotel on England's southern coast. Deborah Kerr, a sensitive girl dominated by her mother, shares a pitiful love with David Niven, an ex-British Army major who boasts of his family background and wartime exploits in an effort to forget his basic ineffectuality. The hotel owner, Wendy Hillier, is infatuated with Bert Lancaster, who seeks therapy at a nearby pub for the scars of his marital breakup with Hila Hayworth. Mr. Lancster is forced to come to grips with his problems when Miss Hayworth shows up with visions of reconciliation dancing in her head. His emotional upheaval is so profound that it spreads to the other unfortunate in the hotel and eventually points the way to a believable happy ending.

Director Delbert Mann has elicited memorable performances from the principals and from Cathleen Nesbitt, Gladys Cooper, Felix Aylmer and May Hallatt, who fill secondary roles to overflowing. The standout portrayal is delivered by Mr. Niven, the lecherous major whose lustful house of cards is toppled brutally and who manages to salvage some measure of true dignity from the wreckage. Mr. Lancaster is convincing as the sudden sufferer and Miss Hayworth turns in one of the better performances of her checkered career. "Separate Tables" was produced by Harold Hecht for Hecht, Hill and Lancaster. Recommended.

Report from THE MAYOR

Burn The Mortgage Princeton Engine Company No. 1 shares the same enthusiasm for fire prevention as the other two volunteer companies. Last week, however, they might have been pardoned if they had wished to have at least a symbolic "burning of the mortgage" for on Wednesday the Mayor, Borough Clerk, and the Treasurer signed a check for the final payment on the Chestnut Street firehouse.

The Borough had borrowed $30,000, just ten years ago at the extremely favorable interest rate of 3 1/2 percent. Also last week, the weather man smiled on Engine Co. No. 1 for its traditional Labor Day outing at Squatters' Grove.

A Special Meeting. The Borough Planning Board scheduled another special meeting for this last Tuesday as part of its continuing series of meetings with consultant planner Francis Dodd McElph. The plan called for a two-hour meeting.

The first part was devoted to a presentation of facts and ideas by McElph. The balance of the meeting was devoted to a frank exchange of views between the members of the planning board. In these constructive discussions, the consultant is picking up the clues that will help him to draft the plans for shaping some important aspects of Princeton's future.

Avert on Safety. The Mayor and Police Chief Mondane again attended the regular meeting of the Mercer County Safety Council. The number one item of concern: pedestrian safety. With schools back in session, special attention is being given to pedestrian and bicycle safety problems.

Disaster Control. The first fall meeting of the Mercer County Civil Defense and Disaster Control directors and coordinators will be held at Princeton's control center on Witherspoon Street on Tuesday at 8 p.m. Captain Sage

Magazine Drive Planned

The Parent-Teacher Association of Princeton High School will begin a two-week drive Monday for magazine subscriptions. The money earned will be used to award scholarships to seniors for further study in college.

Members of the PTA will call on parents and friends to ask them to buy new magazine subscriptions, renewals, gifts and special offers. Although the drive itself lasts only two weeks, the Scholarship Fund Committee is open for business all year. By calling Mrs. Charles Widman (Walnut 4-4894), orders may be placed at any time.

In addition to Mrs. Widman, members of the Scholarship Committee include: Mrs. John B. Fene, chairman; Mrs. Don J. Grove, assistant chairman, and Mrs. J. D. Collings, chairman of solicitors.

has invited members of Borough and Township governing bodies to attend the discussions, which will include the important item of providing protection against radioactive fallout.

Meanwhile, national Civil and Defense Mobilization Director Lee A. Hoegh has called upon all mayors throughout the United States to encourage citizen interest in these problems. He cites two attitudes that prevent proper disaster control planning: "It can't happen here." And "If it happens, it will be so terrible that nothing can be done about it." Director Hoegh believes that national survival may well depend on our discarding these attitudes and preparing realistic survival plans.

Thursday Open House. The regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor!" sessions will again be held from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall on Thursday, September 27, and Thursday, September 28. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings. On Friday, September 28, at 8 p.m., the regular September meeting of Mayor and Council will be held in the council chamber.

Brochure Completed

A 52-page brochure, published by the Princeton Real Estate Association in the interests of visitors and prospective residents, made its appearance this week. Ten thousand copies, each featuring a large pictorial map of Princeton, will be distributed without charge to all who seek information about the community.

Historic highlights of Princeton are included in the text, together with a summary of its educational, research and commercial facilities. The brochure, compiled by Lehart & Co., printed by the Princeton Printing Co. with photographs by Orren Jack Turner.

Copies may be obtained at Town Tours, at the Princeton Business Association offices, 14 Witherspoon Street, or from any of its members.

It's New To Us

wool is plain—on one side, print on the other.

One Italian tweed is a stirring of amber, cream and rust and another is stained glass shades of red and purple in meticulous little squares. England sends a brushed plaid with small diamonds. Its colors are turquoise, royal and violet and there is a matching solid flannel in violet. Jersey by the yard have a big-needle look. Some are brushed wools like a furry olive green. Some are printed, perhaps in irregular harlequin patterns, or muted stripes.

In the conventional woolsens, perhaps the most impressive piece in the Gretchen collection is black cashmere at $15 a yard. Wool chinchilla, broadcloth and a heavy blanket plaid are included in the coat department.

Look at the embroidered cottons, most of them black and white, and the Belgian wide-wale corduroy in cherry or gold. There are T-shirts in cottons in eye-catching multicolor stripes, good for year-round dresses and drip-dry cottons which are grade-A for school clothes.

Consider the future, and make yourself a winter party dress from French brocade. There is a black and silver one, a tawny brown one, blue and a tapestry of grey-green and silver.

Over a solid color, for a final show of splendor, use the black hand-loomed "charity lace," sold only in the four-yard lengths in which it is loomed, no two lengths alike, $4.80 a yard.

BENEFIT PARTY PLANNED
By Republican Women. The Princeton Republican Women's Club will hold a benefit dessert-party on October 8 at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Percy H. Clark, 132 Elm Road, will open her home to the Women's Club for the affair. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. John A. Mueller, Walnut 4-4883.

TWO ROOMS LEASED

By Nursery School. The Cooperative Nursery School Association of Franklin Park has announced that a lease for the use of two classrooms in Temple Beth Shalom in Kendall Park has been signed. Now under construction, these premises will offer better facilities than have been available before.

At a meeting last week, the new membership and parents of the pre-schoolers were introduced to the new executive board, trustees and head teacher, Mrs. Ella Schenck. It was announced that several openings have occurred in the senior group through transfers and other reasons. Those who wish to enroll children should call Mrs. Marie Drezevick, registrar, at Davis 8-6587.

BUS LINES MERGE

Tiger Line Joins Suburban. Tiger Bus Line has been acquired by Suburban Transit Corp. of New Brunswick. Tiger Lines will still be known by its own name as the Tiger Division of the corporation and there will be no changes in personnel or policy.

John Vandenberg, president of Tiger Bus Lines, will continue to serve in an advisory capacity and Leigh Harris, Jr., will continue to hold the position of traffic manager and operations superintendent. Lee Jacobs and Sidney Kuchin are officers of the Suburban Transit Corp.

Tiger Bus Line's fleet consists of four modern air-conditioned coaches and ten school buses. Mr. Kuchin stated that the continued popularity and growth of the Princeton to New York express has necessitated the acquisition of more vehicles.

Mr. Jacobs commented that Suburban's charter bus service has been growing in size, making it necessary to add to the charter

COMING-AND-GOING

Bus Line is 36 Years Old. Tiger Bus Line, now affiliated with Suburban Transit of New Brunswick, celebrates its 36th year this month. It was in September, 1929, that John Vandenberg bought his first bus and started his Tiger Bus Line from the garage he built at 194 Witherspoon.

For some time, Mr. Vandenberg was the only driver. Gradually he increased his staff and his fleet until Tiger now has nine school buses, 65 children in a bus, and five charter buses, 41 passengers to a bus.

THE "IFS" TAKE SHAPE

Three Hold Key to Future. A year ago, the Princeton football team lost the services of a trio of key players for virtually the entire season. End Jim Stansbury, tackle Frank Schultz and tailback Dan Sachs were all sidelined by injuries, the latter two seeing some action but never to the extent that they could be counted on for steady duty.

Even without their services — and they certainly ranked among the top five players on the 1958 squad — Princeton managed to chase Dartmouth down to the wire in defense of its Ivy title. The Tigers eventually finished in a second-place tie with Cornell.

This season, Stansbury and Schultz, still in college, are definitely out for the year. Sachs, on the other hand, is apparently ready — the beneficiary of a successful operation on his knee and now tested in several slam-bang scrimmages.

The slim, agile resident of near-by Hopewell has the ability to increase Princeton's scoring potential in extreme fashion. In two games (Cornell and Dartmouth) as a sophomore, he scored three touchdowns. He averaged six yards per carry, and when the Tigers had the league championship wrapped up, he was one of the few sophomores ever named to the all-ivy team.

So Far, So Good. In the first two weeks at Blairstown, Sachs has hit, been hit, and has stood the test. His condition has brought considerable cheer to the Tiger camp, which is aware that two of the toughest games on the 1959 schedule will be played in the first three weeks — against Rutgers and Penn.

Sachs' speed and his brokenfield ability are sufficient so that an injury-free year may well permit him to rank with the top backs in Princeton history. His passing has been short of greatness to date, but that will sharpen with ability to play a full season.

With the highly-dependable Hugh Scott, who did so much under emergency conditions last year, and eventually Jack Sullivan as replacements for Sachs, the Tigers will be extremely well staffed at this vital position. If Sachs can play all year long, there is good reason to look for improvement over last year's 6-3 mark.

Two More "If's." The Interior of the Princeton line was a weak spot last fall, with improvement needed if the Tigers are to hold their own against increasingly stiff competition. To make matters more difficult, Joe DeDeo, whose play as a senior did much to bolster this vulnerable condition, has graduated.

Although many a fan's eye will dwell almost entirely on the manner in which the plays open up in the backfield, a key spot to watch in development of the new Princeton team is guard. The pair in the spotlight are Stan Baldwin and Stan Shaugnessy. From whom whom is hoped in the weeks ahead.

Baldwin's play as far fits into the "pleasant surprise" category, the type of performance in which a member of the squad exceeds the standards set for him. In good condition but nonetheless at 215 ten pounds heavier than he was a year ago, the big Wisconsin resident has won the starting assignment at left guard after having been scheduled for reserve duty off his play a year ago.

At the late Charlie Caldwell often said, "You can always be more than the good, big guy can be more for you than the good, little guy." If Baldwin at 215 becomes a good, big guard this season, Princeton's second major "if" will be solved.

Picked to replace DeDeo is the 34 lb. Shaugnessy, whose career has been late in developing. A center behind Frank Svecetee as a freshman, he missed his sophomore season through illness and last fall went through the process of converting from center to guard.

By last November, Shaugnessy was beginning to show his advantage. He'll be backed by ap-more Glen Allgaier, tabbed as a center, and Junior Gary Loftus, who also has good potential, but the starting assignment is currently his.

With Sachs' condition and Baldwin's development, Shaugnessy's play is the third big "if" for Princeton in 1959. At the risk of being redundant, it can be said that if all three "ifs" break right, the Tigers could become a very solid football team.

JINGOLI SATISFIED

With First PHS Scrimmage, "On the whole, I'm satisfied," Princeton High School Coach Joe Jingo, was reviewing the first pre-season scrimmage against New Brunswick High School last Saturday.

"We looked good and we looked bad. We need a lot more work on fundamentals; the timing and the execution of our plays were way off."

"Our linemen were being trapped too often. We need to practice our passing. But all these things should straighten themselves out with more practice."

"Of course," he added, "that doesn't mean to say that our opponents won't get better with more practice, too."

Nonetheless, it was plain to see that for all his reservations, Jingo was satisfied with last Saturday's scrimmage. For one reason, the excessive heat and rain of the past few weeks, the squad had had very little practice and contact drills and could be expected to look a little ragged the first time out.

Another reason was that it was spicuous, even at this early stage, that this year's squad is more balanced than last year's team, less dependent on a few standout players. In the backfield, Jack Hawkins, the only survivor from last year's starting backfield, promises to surpass his fine performance of last season. He can the ball well and was effective in passing particularly down the middle.

Bruce Sandvick, who like Hawkins is a tailback, looked impressive in throwing the long pass. He is certain to see plenty of action this season.

Another back singled out by Jingo for his fine showing was little Russ Petrone. Petrone, who can't weigh more than 135, makes up for his size in speed and determination, and showed that he can not only throw a football but can catch one as well.

Jingo, then, has three players who can pass, a not unpleasant situation and one that could sustain a varied and explosive attack. One criticism can't prove anything conclusively, but it is reasonable to believe now that the problem of rebuilding the backfield will be satisfactorily solved.

Line Taking Shape. Less jared by graduation than the backfield, the line, when it played well, was impressive. When it played poorly, there was no cause for pessimism, because it was making mistakes that can be corrected by experience. The raw material is there in abundance: Captain Dave Kilgour, Harvey Clark, Dave Wright, Dave McKee, Charlie Tindall, Ridge Applegate and others.

"Applegate did a fine job," Jingo said, "in slowing down plays and taking out the interference so that the linebackers could get in there and make those tackles. Clark and Kilgore also played a fine line game."

"I HAVE FAITH IN THOSE BOYS." So says Neilson Poe, who was on the Princeton football staff for many years, in picking the Tiger football team to "win 'em all" this year. Mr. Poe admits Dartmouth, Penn. Cornell and Harvard will be tough to beat, but thinks Princeton backfield strength will make the difference. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: How many games do you think Princeton's football team will win this year?

Where asked: Around town.

Samuel Hirsch, 50 Randall
Road, associate professor, Boston University: Six. It's a quick guess. I haven't really studied the games or opponents yet, but it seems like a likely average from what I do know about the team's chances.

Hugh Hoffman, 151 Cedar Lane,
student at Lawrenceville School:
I'd say all but one. I don't want to say who I think will beat them because I just don't know. It's not just a random guess, though,
it's what I'd like to see happen.

Raymond Richards, 26 Jeffrey Road, machinist: I think they'll have seven wins and two losses. I don't want to guess who will beat them, but they'll be tripped up twice. They will beat Dartmouth, though. I think they'll have the Ivy League title sewed
up before the Dartmouth game.
They have a tremendous backfield
this year and a lot of good ends.

Joseph L. Pierson, Somerville
Road, teacher at Princeton High School: From what I see in the papers, they have a pretty good team. I think they'll win six or seven out of the nine. They have a good coaching staff and they've been building up a pretty good team over the years.

Mortimer Friedman, 262 Jeffrey
Road, poultry and egg dealer:
"Nine for Nine in '59" seems to me a good slogan for this Princeton team to adopt. It appears to have the material to make this goal a possibility. I look for Rutgers and Dartmouth to be favored over us, and I think Pennsylvania will also be a tough game to win. Even if Princeton has a seven-for-nine season, it would still be an excellent performance against this type of opposition.

Neilson Poe, The Nassau Club,
retired Princeton coach: You'll never get me to say anything but "all of them." I just don't believe in picking Princeton to lose. I think Rutgers is taking a bit too big, and if we win that one, it will mean a fine start for a well-seasoned backfield is very well balanced, and I think the line will be stronger than last year's.

William L. Leggett, 251 State Road, printer: I don't think they'll lose more than one. I think Dartmouth's going to take them.
The team looks strong; they've got a whole of a backfield this year.

Edgar M. Gennell, Province
Line Road, administrative vice-president of Princeton University:
Most of them. Any Princeton

Crystal Gazing

Sometimes improving on the opinions of the so-called experts, football fans dearly love to predict the outcome of the games that interest them
most. Each fall, Town Topics' Inquiring Reporter asks 10 or 12 Princetonians how many games they think the Tigers will win during the upcoming season.

Two years ago, former players George Sella and Hyman Battle were correct in estimating a 7-and-2 record. Last fall, Bernard Olney, salesmen at McDonald's; Edward Mullen, a Princeton senior, and Martin Lipkes, Western Union manager, all were right when they said "6 and 3." For a look at the predictions of this year's crop of fans, see this page.

ton alumnus of long standing always discounts all talk of Yale being weak. With only one or two exceptions, they have always been good for 30 years. Harvard has been getting stronger the last three or four years. The tough luck Penn's been having the last couple of years I would expect to turn right around this year. A.
They'll be gunning for Princeton and it should be one of the most difficult games. The biggest change in contemporary Princeton football has been that Rutgers is always a tough game. Their recent evolution has been good for football around here. As for the rest of the games, you're just spit-balling, but let us say the Princeton season looks promising.

Murray H. Reich, 184 Loomis
Court, research chemist: Eight.
Rutgers is supposed to be one of the top teams in the east and we've had trouble with them the last two years. If they were tough last year, they'll be tougher this year. Princeton usually gets off to a poor start because they only have a couple of weeks of practice before the season opens and they can't really get in shape.
This makes it rougher against a heavier line like Rutgers.

Mount Holly on September 25, Jingoli hopes to schedule at least two more scrimmages to get some of that much needed experience and sharpening up.

"We want at least one scrimmage against a 'T' team," he pointed out, "in order to get some experience against the T, which Mount Holly will use against us."

the champions took both the regular season crown and the play-off series.

Winnie Russell, who collected two hits in four trips to the plate, was the victorious pitcher in both contests, taking the 10-3 decision in relief with six innings of shut-out ball. Others who stood out for the victors were Ann Greif, Joan Carrier and Ray Hinson, while Eleanor Puntli paced TOWN TOPICS.

TITLE PLAY-OFF SET

In Police Youth League, A play-off for the 1959 championship in the Police Youth Baseball League will be held at 1 Saturday on the Marquand Park Diamond. The contestants will be Engine Co. No. 1 and Engine Co. No. 3.

Behind the three-hit pitching of Johnny Freeman, Engine Co. No. 3 won its way into the championship contest with a 2-1 decision over the Sportsmen. Steve Feldman's single with Johnny Freeman and Craig Wood on second and third provided the victors' runs. A game-saving catch for the final out by third baseman Albert Toto sealed up the triumph.

Earlier last week, the Sportsmen had topped Engine Co. No. 1, 4-2, to earn the right to meet Engine Co. No. 3. Toni Trui, who held the homers to a lone hit, was the winning pitcher, fanning 15. Engine Co. No. 1 was the victor in the first half of the season, thus qualifying for Saturday's championship meeting.

$1,000,000 BUILDING SET
For Holy Cross Sisters. The Marianne Sisters of Holy Cross have begun a capital building and toward construction of a new million-dollar Provinciate to arise at Province headquarters at the corner of the Great Road and Drakes Corner Road.

The new Provinciate will also include a large common room, recreation room, music room, central dining room, resident quarters for 36 professed Sisters and 10 Senior Sisters. Administrative quarters and offices for the Provincial Superior and her counselors are also included.
To finance the cost of the building, the Marianne Sisters will conduct the first public appeal in their history, beginning next week. The initial phase of the campaign will be directed to an appeal for memorial gifts.
The funds will be used exclusively for the new fireproof structure which was designed by Thomas H. Moran, architect.
